

MIT-Lingnan Dual Degree(MIT MSMS Program)

MIT-Lingnan Dual Degree (MSMS Program)

A Unique Experience

As a pioneer in the field of global management education, MIT School of Management offers cutting-edge initiatives that help shape and improve the future of principled management practice. Recognizing that educational needs vary among students from different industries, geographies, and companies, MIT Sloan has developed the Master of Science in Management Studies (MSMS) program, a unique, customizable degree.

The MSMS Program enrolls top students from distinguished overseas business schools to complement their management education. Applicants from our international partner and cooperating schools are especially encouraged to apply. *

*MIT Sloan has special relationships with select non-U.S. business schools. Partner school for the MSMS Program include: SKK-GSB, Tsinghua University, Fudan University and Lingnan (University) College.

Upon arrival, MSMS students find an environment that fosters academic specialization and team work. In this community, students form lasting connections with classmates, professors, staff, and alumni as they pursue their individual passions.

— — MIT Sloan MSMS Program

Applying for Admission

Visit MIT Sloan website for detailed information and to apply for admission online.

>>>mitsloan.mit.edu/msms/

GMAT Score

Three Recommendation letters

Personal Statement

CV

Transcript

Application Due: Feb, 8, 2012

MIT-Lingnan Dual Degree(MIT MSMS Program) Introduction

MIT-Lingnan MSMS program starts admissions in 2009, the would-be students are going to stay at Lingnan for one-year IMBA study, and a second year in MIT Sloan School of Management. Both schools are going to accept the credits students are to achieve on the other side. Upon graduation, they are going to receive an MBA degree from Sun Yat-sen University and a master's degree in management from MIT.

This new degree program will further strengthen the relationships between Lingnan and one of the most distinguished business schools worldwide. It will help students learn about the most up-to-date business thoughts, knowledge and techniques from Eastern and Western worlds, broaden their international visions, with an ultimate goal of laying a solid foundation for themselves to become business elites on international stage in the future.

The past 10 years have witnessed tremendous progress in international MBA cooperation between the school and MIT Sloan School of Management. Lingnan-MIT program has so far nurtured nearly 900 graduates in management field, and thus built up a high reputation in business and social circles.